

1. Charter schools outperform district schools
2. Spending per student has an inverse relationship to student performance. The more spent per student at a school, the lower the overall performance
3. Based on the average overall passing rate, medium sized schools (1000-2000 students) appear to be the optimal size